Original oil paintings from New Hampshire

Light, pulled out of the dark.

Portfolio for designers and art consultants

The work

Original oil paintings of northern lights, night skies, mountain scenes, and moonlit seascapes. I work mainly on black canvas, which gives the color a depth that really holds a room.

Calm night skies and mountain scenes suited to healthcare, hospitality, and office settings.

I'm a self-taught oil painter. The skies lean a touch beyond what you'd see in person. Ethereal, not alien. The White Mountains and the New England coast shape much of what I paint.

With a white canvas, you're dropping something onto it. With black, you're pulling the image out.

Six originals follow. All are available.
